RECENT DONATIONS OF MACHINERY AID DEVELOPMENT OF MACHINE SHOP

MR. MORGAN AND MR. PAYNE GENEROUSLY GIVE EQUIPMENT

The months of December and January have witnessed notable additions to the Academy machine shop. Through the generosity of Mr. Philip M. Morgan of the Morgan Construction Company, Worcester, Mr. Frederick H. Payne, President of the Greenfield Tap and Die Corporation, Greenfield, and John Newman of the class of 1939, the acquisition of several fine metal-working machines has been made possible. These gifts have furnished much needed equipment and have formed the most important stage to date in the development of the engineering department of the school.

The history of the machine shop started in November, 1937, when Mr. Philip Lowell of the faculty began the direction of a group of boys who completely renovated the old barn which formed part of the Noyes Farm, recently acquired by the school.

Beginning last fall a group of boys reset an old LaSalle engine and installed it as a power unit in the new shop plant. This engine is now adequate to drive the machines which have been placed in the shop building.

BEMENT HEAVY DRILL PRESS

This machine used for drilling heavy stock with large-size steel drills.

The machinery installed includes a Barnes back-gearred drill press equipped with tapping attachment presented by Mr. Payne who also gave a set of Little Giant screw plates for the purpose of cutting inside and outside threads.

A small Pratt and Whitney threading lathe complete with tool holders, tool bits, chuck and face plates was presented by John Newman.

The Morgan Construction Company has donated a Cincinnati No. 3 universal milling machine with an index head, mandrels and collets. This machine is used for cutting gears and irregularly shaped metal. The Company also presented a twenty-four inch Stockbridge shaper, a Bement heavy drill press, and a thirteen-foot Draper lathe. This equipment enables the shop to undertake any phase of machine work.

The shafting and belting have yet to be installed. When this is done, Governor Dummer Academy will be equipped with a very unusual machine shop whose turning lathes, cutting grinders, and burrowing drills will furnish a scene where, under the instruction of Mr. Lowell, boys can gain practical experience in the complexities of the modern machine shop.

MR. FRANCIS RUSSELL SPEAKS ON AMERICAN FOREIGN POLICY

On Tuesday night, January 31, during evening meeting Mr. Francis Russell, Tufts graduate and prominent Boston lawyer, spoke to the school on American foreign policy. What is the duty of the United States to its people, faced as it is with the success of German and Japanese conquest in Europe and China? South America and Mexico are becoming greater problems when we view the inroads made by dictator nations and the force of Japanese expansion. We cannot be fooled into thinking that the dictators will settle down, for the prophetic realization of Hitler's program in Mein Kampf gives the lie to those who believe that he does not intend to carry out the remainder of his plan. France and England are being greatly crippled, and this influence is directly felt economically in America.

After drawing a striking parallel with the Californian Vigilantes after 1849, Mr. Russell urged the need of a set of rules of international conduct and the means of enforcing them. He lamented the great opportunity missed at the time of the attempt at sanctions with Japan and its encouragement to Italy. The United States, he felt, must take the position of defending international law and order by applying economic pressure.

More Briefly

The Reverend Russell Hubbard of Providence, Rhode Island, conducted on January 15 the memorial service held in the Lang Gymnasium for the late Philip Hacker Cobb.

During the Christmas holidays a dinner was held in Boston for Dr. Charles S. Ingham, which was attended by a large number of his former students and teachers. Dr. Ingham was headmaster of the Academy from 1907 to 1930. Preceding the dinner a reception was held for Dr. and Mrs. Ingham.

On Sunday afternoon, January 8, Bob Nutter gave a showing in the Library of colored moving pictures which he had taken personally on his trip to Labrador last summer with Donald B. MacMillan. A considerable number of boys attended.

On January 16, Mr. Kirk read a paper entitled "Leading up to Modern Architecture" before the Monday Evening Club of Newburyport and Ipswich.

On January 21, Mr. Eames announced to the school the birth of a daughter each in two Academy families. On the same day girls were born to Mr. and Mrs. Foster Babineau and to Mr. and Mrs. John Snyder. Both "Fuzzy" and John are employed on the Academy staff.

An unusual opportunity of hearing a Stradivarius violin was furnished at Vespers on January 22 when Mr. Sirois played the Meditation from Thais on a valuable instrument which was lent him by Mr. Francis Kitchell.

Governor Dummer Academy was elected in December to membership in the Association of Business Officers of Preparatory Schools. Mr. Theodore Barry will represent the Academy in this organization.

On January 22 and 29, Mr. Kirk showed in the Library a series of scientific films prepared by the educational department of the Eastman Kodak Company. The first group for the chemistry classes included "The Mining of Bituminous Coal" and "The Chemical Effects of Electricity"; the second group for the physics classes included films of "Atmospheric Pressure" and "Compressed Air".

GLEE CLUB ANNOUNCES PROGRAM FOR WINTER CONCERT SEASON

Plans for the winter concert schedule of the school Glee Club are now completed. Headed by President Harrison Poole, the club will open the 1939 season on February 18 with a joint concert which will be held at the Bancroft School for Girls in Worcester where the combined program will be followed by a dinner and a dance.

Under the direction of Mr. Sager with Mr. Stone as accompanist the Glee Club has been hard at work in rehearsals for the concerts of the current term. Fifty-five voices have been retained after try-outs of more than ninety boys at the beginning of the year.

The program for the concert at the Bancroft School is as follows:

Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring	Bach
Break Forth! O Beauteous Heavenly Light ...	Bach
Prayer of Thanksgiving	Netherlandic Folk Tune
Finale, from "The Gondoliers"	Sullivan
Combined Glee Clubs
The Heavens are Telling	Beethoven
Adoramus Te	Palestrina
Divine Praise	Bortniansky
Musical Trust	Clokey
Vicar of Bray	MacColl
Finale, Act I of "Princess Ida"	Sullivan
Governor Dummer Glee Club

The second concert of the term is also away from the school on February 25 when arrangements have been made to give a combined concert at the House in the Pines, Norton, Massachusetts. In conjunction with the concert the girls of the dramatic club of the House in the Pines are presenting two one-act plays. Following the entertainment there will be a dance.

The final concert of the winter season will be held at the Academy in the Lang Gymnasium when a combined program will be presented with Abbott Academy of Andover. The date of this concert has been scheduled for March 11 and will include a supper and dance for the guests from Abbott.

HARRISON POOLE ELECTED

GLEE CLUB PRESIDENT FOR 1939

At a recent meeting of the Glee Club, F. Harrison Poole of Gloucester was elected President. Poole sings second tenor in the club and has been a member for two years.

The position of Librarian of the Glee Club is being filled by J. Windsor Frost of Chestnut Hill. John P. Burnham of Del Carmen, Pampanga, Phillipine Islands, and John E. Griffith of Denver, Colorado, have been chosen as Managers.

PORTRAIT OF MRS. AMBROSE DISPLAYED IN NEW BUILDING

The portrait of Mrs. Ambrose, painted by Miss Frances Dalton of Andover and presented to the Academy by the graduating class of 1938, has been placed on display in the New Building. The painting will remain in its present location until June when it will be transferred to Ambrose House where it will be permanently hung as a memorial to Mrs. Ambrose. A photograph of the painting is reproduced above.

NILES PERKINS '38 SELECTED ALL-SCHOLASTIC TRACK CHAMPION

Niles Perkins, Jr., now a Freshman at Bowdoin, has just received the honor of being selected by Daniel J. Ferris of the National Amateur Athletic Union as holder of the All-Scholastic rating for the hammer throw.

While at Governor Dummer, Niles participated in the Brown, Harvard, and New Hampshire Interscholastics. At Brown he threw the hammer 191 feet and 5 inches.

GOVERNOR DUMMER GRADUATE CAPTAINS BOWDOIN HOCKEY

Daniel Hanley, a graduate of the Academy in the class of 1935, has been elected to lead the Polar Bear hockey team through the 1939 season. At Governor Dummer Hanley was prominent in both hockey and football.

At Bowdoin he is a member of the varsity football team and the Student Council.

Mr. Glenn referred to the President's opening address to Congress and cited as the text for his address the passage in which Mr. Roosevelt declared that all free institutions in the United States were dependent upon religion.

Not many of us, he declared, realized the relation of the modern world to religion and the necessity of free religious development to offset expanding communism and dictatorship. We must be strong enough to face unpleasant and controversial facts and ready in spirit to fight for those institutions that our ancestors died for and that we believe to be right.

Mr. Baldwin stated that one of man's greatest problems is: What shall I do with my enemies? He applied the issues raised by this problem to our actions against criminals.

Mr. Baldwin pointed out that his interpretation of loving one's enemies was acting with intelligent good-will towards them. Although religion, he said, loves old customs and ideas, its stimulus in facing age-old problems can also make it one of the most radical forces in society.

Mr. Webster discussed the popular conception of the saints and contended that our view is often greatly distorted. He pointed out that historians and biographers had frequently made the lives of saints seem too perfect and that while the saints were super-human in some respects, they all have some very human sides and cannot fail to capture the imagination. He spoke in particular of St. Francis de Sales and his two great messages of charity and tolerance.

PHILIP HACKER COBB

An Address Given by President Kenneth C. M. Sills of Bowdoin College at a Memorial Service Held in the Lang Gymnasium on Sunday, January 15, 1939

I am here this afternoon to give expression, very inadequate expression, to the affection with which his friends cherish the memory of Philip Cobb. I have come from Bowdoin College to pay tribute to a fine graduate but more particularly to speak for his countless friends and acquaintances. There is, to be sure, in this service the note of pathos and sorrow; we would not have it otherwise; but the stronger note is that of triumph. In accordance with the wishes of his mother we wish this service to be primarily one of thanksgiving. We are here to give thanks for a good life gallantly lived.

For if I were asked to use one word with which to describe Philip Cobb it would be the word "gallant". Rising above physical handicap, never bitter, never resentful, he seemed to me always to breathe the very spirit of gallantry. Many men are brave but not many have that buoyancy of soul that fills bravery with something more and something higher. To say of anyone that he is a gallant spirit is a very very high tribute; it can deservedly be bestowed on Philip Cobb.

And the second quality he had in abundant measure was that of sympathy. It has often been said that no one who has not suffered can really have sympathy and understanding for those who are suffering, and it is a strange manifestation of the human spirit that when such sympathy goes out to youth, youth responds amazingly. Boys of all ages loved Philip Cobb, little boys, adolescent boys, school boys, college boys. He not only understood boys; he sympathized with boys, their heartaches and misunderstandings, their disappointments and set-backs, and even the desolation and despair that sometimes sweeps over youth, all these he knew and not only could recognize but could alleviate. Few people had the inborn ability to help boys that he possessed and that he exercised constantly and unconsciously.

And then no one could be in his presence long without realizing that not only was he brave and kind, he was good. He was an example of simple and thorough goodness. In his soul there was little room for the cheap or the debasing. There was nothing pious, nothing goody-good in this goodness. The strength of his character was such that he never posed; he rarely scolded I am told, and he still more rarely preached; he was just plain good. I remember some years ago a very distinguished graduate of Bowdoin not himself a formal religious man, spoke thus of a class-mate: "I don't know if I could define a Christian; I don't know exactly what a Christian is;

but I do know John was a Christian." The same thing could be truthfully said of Philip Cobb.

All these qualities, gallantry, understanding, goodness, were merged in the personality of the man to make him a great teacher, and I use the term advisedly. Now there is little exciting or unusual about the life of a teacher, little that attracts and holds public attention, few incidents that seem noteworthy; his name is seldom in the newspapers and never on the front page. And so the outer life of Philip Cobb can be very briefly sketched. He was a Maine boy, born at Westbrook, May 8, 1895; he went to the Moses Brown School at Providence, and from there to the University of Maine where he and his twin brother, Roland, passed their freshman and sophomore years from 1913 to 1915, and where they both became members of the Sigma Nu Fraternity; both transferred to Bowdoin for the junior and senior years. Philip's major subject was biology; he was an excellent student, graduating in 1917 cum laude and obtaining the next year from Harvard his master's degree in education. From 1918 to 1924 he was Instructor in Science at the Loomis School, and in 1932 came to Governor Dummer Academy where he was a member of the faculty until Next fall many of us will enter college as freshmen and begin working harder than we ever have before. If we are going to attend college next year there are many things that we could find out about college life which would help us greatly in meeting that first crucial year. It is important to realize now that we must have initiative, a wise control of independence and the ability to plan our time.

Daily life is so carefully planned in preparatory school that the lack of bells and full schedules in college is sometimes disconcerting. After several years of having one's life timed, the free college life makes planning difficult. Nevertheless this ability to plan is necessary to college success, and students who do not learn how soon will find that their work at college will fall behind.

To think about college now in these terms will be helpful. An earnest inquiry into the ways of college routine and life made now will give much perspective to the work that sometimes seems hard and meaningless at school. What are the classes like? What is the work like? In what way does the work that we are doing now relate to work in college? These and hundreds of other questions could be asked. Masters are prepared to answer them and are very willing to do so if approached.

Not only seniors but all students would find that pondering these questions would give much meaning to the work in which they are now engaged.

BASKETBALL TEAM TRIUMPHS IN VICTORY OVER DEERFIELD IN SENSATIONAL GAME

GOVERNORS CONQUER DEERFIELD IN SECOND HALF DRIVE

On Saturday night, January 28, the Governor Dummer quintet defeated Deerfield Academy with a climatic 25 to 24 score. Played before a most hospitable Deerfield audience the game was a stirring victory and a tribute to the driving spirit of Mr. Navin's thorough coaching.

In the opening minutes of the first quarter, the Governors got off to a splendid start. John Koslowski made two difficult shots, which were followed by a foul shot by Bob Nutter. After this brief scoring spree, the Governors seemed to lose their aggressiveness. Both the defense and offense appeared to weaken and the quarter closed, Deerfield 8, Governors 5.

With a score of 17 to 8 at the half, everyone considered the game merely a question of the amount of Deerfield's final lead.

When the second half began, a new team seemed to be on the floor. Deerfield, confident in its nine point advantage, slacked up slightly. The Governors, on the other hand, showed a strong spirit and renewed determination. The team handled the ball with ease on the offense, and played an excellent defensive game as well. The gap between the two scores decreased until the end of the quarter, when the score stood 22 to 17 in Deerfield's favor.

For the remaining eight minutes of the game, the Governors showed the greatest drive they have shown this year. Don Mortimer and Bert Pratt did most of the scoring in this period. With about a minute left to play, the score was tied, and the game seemed to be in Bob Nutter's hands when he was given a foul try. He dropped the basket cleanly, and gave the Governors a one-point lead, 25 to 24.

KIMBALL UNION GAME LOST IN LAST MINUTE OF PLAY

On Saturday, January 21, the Governors lost the second game of the season to Kimball Union Academy, 26 to 25. With less than a minute to play, a Kimball Union man threw a long shot from the center of the court which went through without touching the hoop.

FAST ACTION IN KIMBALL UNION GAME

In the first quarter, Kimball Union opened the scoring, but the Governors soon caught up and forged ahead. A slight lead was maintained by the Governors throughout the half which ended in the Governors' favor, 14 to 13.

When play was resumed in the second half, the Governors showed a definite supremacy in spirit and determination. The play of both teams was marked by inferior shooting, although there was a marked improvement over the first half. The Governors did a very fine job on defense. Kimball Union had only one free shot under the hoop in the second half.

Johnny Koslowski led the scoring with 8 points, and was followed by Captain Donoghue with 7 points.

WINTER SPORTS CAPTAINS

The following captains have been elected and announced to lead the winter sports. Those reported to date are:

Basketball. Francis X. Donoghue of Holyoke, Massachusetts.

Hockey. Joseph W. Pearson, Jr., of Schenectady, New York.

Wrestling. William R. Ferris of Ithaca, Pennsylvania.

Winter Track. Roland G. Noble of Green Bay, Wisconsin.

Second Basketball. Robert T. Hurley of Roslindale, Massachusetts.

MILTON ACADEMY DEFEATED IN BASKETBALL OPENER

On Saturday, January 14, a well-coordinated Governor Dummer quintet defeated Milton Academy, 35 to 16.

The Governors entered the game with plenty of assurance and spirit and the first quarter's play showed them to be the superior team.

As the game progressed, the Governor's attack was much more potent. Bert Pratt and John Koslowski were in good shooting form.

John Koslowski, Don Mortimer, Matty Hannon, and Charlie Hewitt of last year's team were joined by Bob Nutter, Bert Pratt, Tom Tenney, Clarence Pickard, John Eshelman and Captain Donoghue.

WRESTLERS TIE ANDOVER SECONDS; TEAM LOSES TO HAVERHILL HIGH

The wrestling team opened its season at the Academy with an informal wrestling match against the Andover Reserves.

Pitcairn in the 126-pound class, Mulcahy in the 165-pound class, and Jack Griffith in the unlimited division turned in victories. Captain Bill Ferris won the 145-pound event in the finest performance of the match which scored a tie, 21-21.

On Saturday, January 28, a powerful Haverhill High School team defeated the Governors in a scrappy match at the Academy. Norman Pitcairn was the only winner of the day against a much more experienced wrestling team. Captain Bill Ferris, Knapp and Mulcahy deserve great credit in their close matches.

ANNUAL ALUMNI BASKETBALL GAME IS VARSITY TEAM VICTORY

The Governors won a 44 to 30 score on Saturday evening, February 4, in the annual game with the Alumni. Three of the players came from New York City, one from Lexington, Va., and one from Amherst.

The Alumni gave a beautiful exhibition of passing and floorwork at the start of the game, but the aggressive offense of the Governors soon put them in the lead. The late arrival of Nels Corey gave the Alumni renewed drive but the varsity kept its advantage. J. C. Cushman '31, Russ Brewer '35, Nels Corey '35, Bill Mulliken '35, Sarcas Kalashian '36, Fred Zins '36, John Carver '37, Russ Simons and Mike Lawler '38 played for the Alumni.

SECOND BASKETBALL TEAMS WIN OVER HAMPTON AND TOPSFIELD

On Saturday, January 14, the second basketball team swamped the Hampton Academy seconds by the score of 38 to 28 in a fast game played in the Lang Gymnasium. Acting-Captain Bud Hasse and Jack Dyer were high scorers for the home team.

On January 28 the Topsfield High School team met defeat by 22 to 20. High scorer for the Governors was Joe Brady with 10 points. Bob Hurley and Les Ackerman excelled.

TRACK TEAM LOSES 41-27 IN MEET AT KIMBALL UNION

The Governors were defeated by a score of 41 to 27 in the track team's first meet of the season with Kimball Union Academy. First places were taken in the high jump and in the relay.

Clark Young was high scorer with 11 points, Dave Huggins was second with 6 points and Fred Greene third with 4.

VARSITY 2nd BASKETBALL LOSES TWICE TO ANDOVER JAYVEES

The second half of the varsity basketball squad were clearly outplayed in the two games on January 21 and February 4 with the Andover J. V.'s. Respective scores were 40-21 and 34-19. In both games the Governors rallied around Captain Bud Hasse, but in spite of the good playing of Klotz, Tenney and Dyer were unable to stop their opponents.

HOCKEY TEAM WINS 3-2 IN ROXBURY LATIN GAME

In a closely contested game at Roxbury on January 21, the hockey team defeated a strong Roxbury Latin sextet, 3 to 2. Although the score was close, and the game had to go into an overtime period to be decided, the Governors outplayed their opponents most of the time. The first score for the Governors came in the middle of the first period when Tooley sent a powerful shot from 30 feet into the cage at 6:21.

Early in the third period Pete Pearson picked up a loose puck and sent the Governors away with a 2 to 1 lead at 3:42. Roxbury Latin retaliated with a score 98 seconds later when Kittredge batted the puck into the goal after a fast scramble in front of the cage. Both sides made several unsuccessful attempts to score during the remainder of the period.

In the overtime the Governors scored on a freak play. Harry Davy shot the puck at the goalie who came up with an expert save, but pushed the puck into the cage as he tried to clear it. Outstanding for the Governors were Art Rolfe, who made several fine saves in the goal, and Captain Pete Pearson, who played an exceptional game.

GOVERNORS TIE ONE TO ONE IN DEERFIELD HOCKEY GAME

On Saturday, January 28, the hockey team traveled to Deerfield to earn a 1 to 1 tie despite two overtime periods.

After the elapse of two minutes in the first period, Ted Munro broke away and drove a hard shot past the Deerfield goal-tender. Although several other attempts to score were made on both sides, the period ended with the Governors out in front 1 to 0.

As the second period began the Governors slowed up considerably but soon their defense tightened and Deerfield's attacks were repeatedly held off.

Throughout the third period the Governors completely dominated the play. Both the first line of Bob Lyle, Gordon Tooley, and Ted Munro and the "Kid" line of Dick Wyman, Dana Babcock and Hank Payson showed great drive. Neither team was able to score in this remaining period and when the final whistle blew the score was deadlocked at one apiece.

During the second overtime period, agreed upon by the coaches, there were no saves at all to be made by Art Rolfe, the Governor's goalie, and the game ended, Governor Dummer, one, Deerfield, one. Captain Pearson and Frank Collins were outstanding on the Governors' defense. Art Rolfe, although playing with an injured finger, gave a remarkable performance at the nets.

EXETER JAYVEES OUTPLAYED
IN 3-1 HOCKEY CONTEST

In spite of four Governor Dummer regulars on the infirmity list, including Gordon Tooley, veteran center, the hockey team defeated the Exeter Junior Varsity Team on January 25 with a 3 to 1 score.

Bob Lyle scored on a quick pass from Captain Pearson and two minutes later passed to Ted Munro who gained another point.

Final score was made by Captain Pete Pearson on a solo dash. Outstanding was the defensive work of Captain Pearson and Frank Collins and the fine playing of Ted Munro.

GOVERNOR SKATERS LOSE
IN CLOSE ANDOVER J. V. GAME

On Wednesday, January 18, the Governor Dummer Hockey Team journeyed to Andover, Massachusetts, and there were nosed out of a close game 2 to 1 by the Andover Jayvees. The game was an undecided encounter, until the final whistle, as both sides played very even hockey.

Outstanding for the Governors were Art Rolfe, Captain Pearson, Gordon Tooley, and Ted Munro.

SECOND HOCKEY SCORES 6-4
AGAINST MARBLEHEAD REDWINGS

On January 28, the second hockey team defeated the Marblehead Redwings in a 6 to 4 win. In the first period Lunt scored on a pass from Bowker which was tied by a quick goal from the Redwings who forged ahead 2 to 1.

The Governors came back with fire in the third period and forced the play aggressively, netting five goals. Outstanding for the Governors were Pierce on the defense and Lunt who was a strong factor on the offense. Both players tallied twice.

BELMONT HILL HOCKEY TEAM
SCORES AGAINST GOVERNORS

On Saturday, January 14, the Governor Dummer hockey team opened its season by dropping a hard-fought battle to Belmont Hill, 4 to 1.

The team played very well considering the small amount of practice it had had. Special mention should go to Art Rolfe, who played an exceptional game in the goal.

VESPERS

Mr. Grimes took for his topic the fallacy of the idea that the world is moved by great external events. We should understand that it is the little things that really change the world.

It was his belief that the little events of every-day life either undermine or build strong characters and that in the teachings of the Bible we can find illustrations of those ways of life which lead to strength.

Mr. Wilder gave an analysis of the danger of mid-winter term depression and said that the ultimate purpose of school was to gain a knowledge of the good, the true, and the beautiful.

He said that a desire for knowledge cannot come through reason, but must come from the spirit.

PHILIP HACKER COBB

his tragic death November 20th last. In the interval between his teaching he gave his time both winter and summer to Camp Winona of which he had been a director since 1917, and to conducting a tutoring school at Vero Beach, Florida. These rather ordinary details take on more significance if we realize that he had a wide and varied education. He was a teacher at two old and famous schools, and in his teaching and camp work he must have come in contact in the last twenty years with hundreds and hundreds of boys.

I have heard many of his old students, both at Loomis and at Governor Dummer, say that not only did they love Philip Cobb but that he knew how to teach, and he knew how to teach because he knew how to bring out what was in the boy, and he could inspire halting, hesitant youth with confidence. There have been many attempts to define the real teacher. People have often wondered why it is that this man or that, regarded by the world as shy or different or retiring or even without those outer qualities that the world finds attractive, should be able in the classroom or in laboratory to interest and to inspire generation after generation of youth. The man of the world, perhaps even the ordinary business man, would be very likely to think if he met him casually that Philip Cobb could not be a great teacher; his students knew better. Seldom have I known a teacher who inspired more loyalty both to himself and to his fine ideals, and his boys not only respected him, they loved him, and love based on respect is among the very finest of human emotions.

Of the wonderful work that he did at Winona others far more qualified than I can speak. Just as in his formal education he had the training of two fine Maine colleges and of Harvard, so for his work at Winona he had the wonderful advantage of being under his father and mother who made the Cobb Camps notable in the early days of the summer camp movement. For nearly twenty years he had charge of the boys' work there, and I never have heard parent or boy speak of him and his influence without sincere respect and often with deep affection. One of his old camp boys told me that Philip was the heart of Winona, and that too is a great tribute. There in the beautiful surroundings of the camp he got to know hundreds of boys and to come into very close and intimate connection with their problems. Always cheerful, always brave, always gallant in the midst of a very busy life in the camp, he found plenty of time to be consulted, plenty of time to give advice. He never seemed to be a young man in a hurry; there was always something serene and restful in his comradeship.

And so in these intimate friendly surroundings, in this service arranged by the school he served so well, we can hail him as a blithe spirit and bid him farewell in the great lines of Milton in which I have made but one change:

"Nothing is here for tears, nothing to wail,
Or knock the breast, no weakness, no contempt,
Dispraise, or blame, nothing but well and fair
And what may quiet us in a life so noble."
